I am currently a member of Llais, an independent organisation set up by the Welsh Government, to represent the views and experiences of people using health and social care. Llais replaced the Community Health Council, which I was a member of for 11 years. I have also been fortunate to spend a period of time as a Director and Chair of Menter Mon and of Agoriad, based in Bangor.

I have a daughter and three grandchildren, who also live on Anglesey.

My interests include, rugby, improving my knowledge of local history and travel.
